GLENDALE RESEARCH HOSPITAL IS FORMALLY DEDICATED WITH IMPRESSIVE PUBLIC CEREMONY

Large Number of Local People Participate; Inspect Thoroughly, Modernly Equipped Institution

HUMANITARIANISM OF HOSPITALS was the keynote struck at the dedicatory exercises of the new Glendale Research Hospital held yesterday afternoon. More than 1000 people gathered at Piedmont Park where the institution is located to join with stockholders and directors in the program which included addresses from clergy, officials, laymen and medical profession. An orchestra provided appropriate music and Attorney W. E. Evans presided.

In opening the program, Mr. Evans said that it was "with a great deal of satisfaction and some degree of complacency" that he welcomed the throng to the new institution.

"It is said that the largest and finest hospital, which covers five acres of ground is located in Paris, France," he continued. "It was built in the seventh century. Here we have, not the oldest, but the newest hospital and while it is not the largest, I believe you will find here the most convenient and modern anywhere in the world. While I am not capable on passing on the efficiency of a hospital, I believe that the management has gone just as far in making this institution to meet every need of the community as it possibly could."

"When I was shown through the hospital a few evenings ago, I was reminded of the darkey who saw a large box of black grease on his wife's dresser."

"Liza, tell me what am dis heah grease?" he said.

"You fool niggah, doan you all know what that am foah?"

"I suah doan know," said Rastus.

"Well, you nebber will learn nuffin. That am my massage cream."

Which led Mr. Evans to the conclusion that while he didn't know that use of much of the equipment, those that use it do.

Invocation by Dr. Crist

The Rev. C. M. Crist was then called on for the invocation in which he gave thanks to the Almighty for putting "us in a place to work out our own salvation" and praised God for the privilege of co-operation in such a work as the establishment of a hospital. In asking for the Divine blessing he expressed the feeling that "the things we look upon this day may be pleasing to Thee."

"The Good Shepherd" (Vandewater) was then sung by Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts in her usual pleasing manner after which Mr. Evans explained that the hospital was a democratic institution, being capitalized at $100,000 and having more than 200 stockholders, the largest block owned by one individual is $6000, he stated, and this person is a layman.

Visitors Given Welcome

The Rev. W. E. Edmonds then responded for the stockholders and welcomed the visitors on behalf of the board of directors. He called attention to the significance of Thursday of this week as being the birth anniversary of Florence Nightingale, the fact that yesterday was Mothers' Day and that the occasion marked the completion of a vision by a group of men to put in Glendale a democratic institution which would care for the sick.

"It is a great day when we lay the cornerstone for a new church," he said. "It is a great day when we establish a new school, but what shall be said of the day when an institution like this shall be set apart as representing everything in the Good Samaritan.

"I am glad today to have the opportunity of paying tribute to the nurses and the physicians who are called from their rest to go out and answer the call of the sick. I am glad to say these words to the living than to wait until they are dead."

Bring Flowers to Sick

The speaker then admonished those present not to bring flowers to the dead, but into the sick rooms of the hospitals where they are living.

In closing the Rev. Mr. Edmonds stated that while he did not know the portent of the name "Glendale Research Hospital," had it been his choice he would have called it the "People's Hospital."

Spencer Robinson and Fannie Marple Retts then sang a duet, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" (Allittson) which was highly appreciated by the audience.

City Manager T. W. Watson, the next speaker, complimented the officials of the hospital on the site which they selected and related that he had planted the trees now growing in Piedmont Park at the formal opening of the subdivision eight years ago.

Development of Community

"Nothing more interesting than human life is the development of a community," said Mr. Watson in the course of his speech, "where men and women can live and enjoy the convenience and fellowship of modern civilization. In all of the towns varied institutions are needed. We have one of those institutions here today. Although I have not inspected this building as yet, I am ready to assume that it is modern and efficient."

Responding for the religious bodies the Rev. E. E. Ford congratulated the stockholders and directors on having such a fine institution, but hoped it would not be for the people of Glendale although that was a contradiction of fact. It is his wish that it will be used by those people whom the doctors send to Southern California to regain their health. He then told the story of a man who came here from the east and wrote to his friends that he felt ten years younger. A few months later he wrote that he felt twenty years younger. After which his friends didn't hear from him for several years and on inquiring they learned he had died of infantile paralysis.

Dealing with the word hospital, he said it meant the same as hospitality, that it meant guests, a place for doctors, nurses, friends and the sick to gather. He left with his hearers the admonition of the Great Physician, "When I was sick ye visited me."

Local Painters Assist At Monte Vista Home

A number of the members of the local painters' union responded by giving their services yesterday in helping finish the kitchen at Monte Vista home for undernourished children.

Those from Glendale who helped yesterday were A. D. Hurd, H. Freed, S. Sullivan, E. L. Major, H. E. Peterson, Bert Stowell, J. M. York, J. D. Hale and Glen Hurd. Carol Hare was unable to assist yesterday and sent a substantial check to Mrs. Meeker, chairman in charge of the work being done by the people of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Belew, Mrs. Ella Richardson and Mrs. R. W. Meeker took up the food for the workmen which had been donated by some of the Glendale ladies.

The merchants of Glendale are also interested in this home, as indicated by the splendid donations of material and supplies. Paints, and like materials, have been donated by the Glendale Hardware company, Cornwell & Kelly and the Glendale Paint & Paper company.

O. G. Thompson, who has given of his services several Sundays in connection with the carpentry work, was also present yesterday. It is expected that the Monte Vista home will be ready by the first of June.

Patriotism Is Costly To J. N. McGillis But Is Also Worth Money

Patriotism is expensive. Such is the conclusion of J. N. McGillis of 1003 East Lomita avenue, Glendale, who had two sons overseas with the American army.

A little episode Saturday night led to this conclusion.

He was in Los Angeles Saturday night and "followed the flag" to a theatre where the American Legion held a demonstration against an Austrian made film.

While in the throng some one "lifted" Mr. McGillis' pocket-book.

It contained $76.

"But it was worth it," said the genial insurance agent, who says he will be of aid to the ex-service men whenever possible.

Do You Play Chess?

Chess!

"Who plays chess in Glendale? I want to play a game of chess now and then. Call—"

There's a class ad for you that should prove interesting to all chess players. The telephone number can be found in the classified columns.

It don't matter much what people want to do or have nowadays, they know the easiest way. That's to use a liner in The Glendale Evening News.

"It pays to advertise."

Pastor Says It's So

Here's the latest fish story:

Homer B. Miller of 434 West Burchett returned to Glendale Saturday night from a one-day's fishing trip with the statement that he had caught twenty-eight trout in three hours.

It sounded "fishy" at first but when his report was corroborated by Rev. G. A. Cole, who enjoyed eating some of the record catch, it decided that Mr. Miller wasn't "kidding."

The exceptionally large catch was made at the Rainbow Trout Farm east of Redlands, which is privately owned and is not regulated by the state game laws.

Mr. Miller was accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. George Burrall of Los Angeles.

Incidentally, Mr. Miller will back up any fish story Rev. Cole tells.

Petty Thieves Busy, Police Reports Show

A wave of petty thievery was recorded at police headquarters over the week-end. G. A. Montgomery of 1700 Kenneth road reported this morning that his home had been entered and a gold watch and chain had been stolen.

C. G. Edmonds' fruit stand at the corner of Verdugo Road and Harvard street was broken into by boys, it is believed. Several cartons of candy and chewing gum are missing.

E. Coker reports the loss of plumbing fittings from a job on Doran, between Louise and Kenwood streets. P. A. Wells of 339 West Harvard street lost a mitre box from a job on Brand boulevard between Broadway and Harvard.

Little Miss Geneva-Marek reported that her bicycle was stolen from in front of the Pearl Keller school Saturday night.

Dr. H. C. Funk To Talk At Southern Session

Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the Lutheran church of this city, goes to Long Beach tomorrow where he will be one of the principal speakers at the southern conference of the California synod of the Lutheran church. Paul A. Hoffman will be the lay delegate from this city. The conference will be held at Trinity Lutheran church on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Clinton L. Booth Is Host Illinois Friends

Clinton L. Booth of 123 West Lomita avenue yesterday was host to friends from Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cowley and Mr. and Mrs. James Cowley who hail from Freeport. They are visiting in Los Angeles and will renew other acquaintances in Glendale during the week, according to Mr. Booth.

FINAL SERVICES BY REV. JOHN BROWN TUESDAY NIGHT

IMPRESSIVE PARADE IS HELD

SUNDAY; MEETINGS WILL TAKE PLACE TONIGHT

Monday, 6:45 P. M.—Prayer Meeting.

Monday, 7:30 P. M.—Subject, "Get There; Stay There."

Tuesday, 3:00—Woman's and Girls' Meeting. Subject, "The Devil's Decoy."

Tuesday, 6:45 P. M.—Prayer Meeting.

Tuesday, 7:30 P. M.—Closing Service.

Glendale had a parade yesterday—about 600 men and boys who are interested in the work of the churches of Glendale and in sympathy with the tabernacle meetings. And it was an inspiring sight, too. Captain Thomas D. Watson and the National guards led the parade. Next came the G. A. R., then the men and boys, marching four abreast.

The column was fully a block long. They formed on Harvard street in front of the high school and then marched north on Brand to Wilson, continued to Harvard to the tabernacle. Several cornetists furnished the music.

The meetings of Saturday evening and all day yesterday were marked by increased interest and were fruitful of results. The topic Saturday evening was "Memories," and was based upon the parable of the rich man and Lazarus. The evangelist, John E. Brown, dwelt upon the importance of memory. Both in its relations to this life and to the life that is to come. How a life devoted to Christ and Christian service writes upon memory pleasant thoughts and friendly recollections which constantly recur to bless and cheer, while a life of selfishness and evil bring a remorse and sorrow that we cannot escape or blot from memory's page; and these conditions live on with us.

Tells About Meeting

The Sunday 11 o'clock service opened with a statement by Rev. W. E. Edmonds concerning this union evangelistic service. How for a year or more the association had worked to get a date with Mr. Brown and finally it was secured. How Mr. Brown had assumed the expenses incidental to the campaign and raised the funds with the "skillet" collection. (Continued on Page 4.)

Mrs. G. H. Rowe Hostess To W. C. T. U. Members

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. H. Rowe, 216 South Orange street. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Ruby Smart.

Reports of the county convention at Pasadena were given by Mrs. R. W. Mottern, Mrs. Gifford, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater and others. Mrs. Brandstater reported that she had secured Dr. George Thomason to speak on "Anti-Narcotics," in connection with scientific temperance instruction, at the Glendale schools. He will speak at the high school tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The next regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held May 20, place of meeting to be announced later. Refreshments of tea and home-made cakes were served at the close of the afternoon by the hostess, Mrs. Rowe.

C. C. Cooper Returns From Colorado Trip

C. C. Cooper, president of the First National Bank of this city, has returned from a trip which has taken him from Glendale to Omaha and Denver and other Nebraska and Colorado points.

Heavy travel to Los Angeles and other southern California points is very noticeable, he said this morning. But elsewhere everyone seems to be staying home and attending to business. Crops in the middle west seem to have favorable weather conditions and the prospects are promising although the prices are low.

Business conditions are tight in the mid-west, said Mr. Cooper, although there is bettering conditions in the east which is slowly creeping west.

Second Team Plays Burbank On Tuesday

The second baseball team of the high school is scheduled to play a game Tuesday afternoon against the Burbank squad. The contest will be played on the latter's grounds and the locals are determined to avenge their 7 to 0 defeat of last week.

Todd headed the committee which was appointed at a mass meeting of striking engineers in New York yesterday.

FIGHTING IN UPPER SILESIA CONTINUES, REPORTS STATE

BERLIN, May 9.—Bitter fighting continued in Upper Silesia today. German troops have joined the small detachments British and Italian troops sent to preserve order. The rates in general in the new bill will be nearly three times the present domestic rates as provided by the Underwood law.

SUDDEN AIR BLOWS TO ENEMY CITIES IN NEXT WAR?

EXPERT PICTURES CONFLICT TO DESTROY INDUSTRIES
BY TORPEDO PLANES

LONDON—Maj. Gen. Sir Frederick Sykes, controller-general of civil aviation, believes with American experts, that the next war will be won in the air, and that fast torpedo-carrying seaplanes will sound the death-knell of present-day heavily armed "Capital" ships of the latest dreadnought type.

Before the institution of civil engineers on "Aviation and Air Transport," Sir Frederick, while insisting upon the necessity of government support of commercial aviation, dwelt on the military and naval possibilities of aviation, the development of which could only be continued in peace time by subsidizing and encouraging commercial experiments.

During the war, he said aviation became daily a more potent factor in the situation. Every war has started with a great advance in scientific skill, compared with the preceding conflict and there was every reason to believe that the next war will see an astounding increase in development of aerial fighting.

Warships Are Vulnerable

He did not think that operations with land forces would witness such radical changes, but the possibilities of aircraft in conjunction with naval operations are far greater, although admittedly more difficult to predict, as there was no major naval engagement after the Battle of Jutland and it was only after Jutland that torpedo-carrying aircraft were ready for use.

"There is every indication," he said, "that torpedo attack by aircraft may reach a point where the very existence of opposing fleets consisting of the giant capital ship of the present day may be jeopardized."

"For the cost of one battleship a thousand torpedo-carrying seaplanes could be built, and it is already questionable whether a battle ship could survive an attack launched by even a small force of this mobile arm.
Fleets operating near the enemy's coast will be vulnerable from land aircraft bases, and as the radius of aircraft action increases, close blockade will be rendered more and more difficult.

"Another form of air operations may prove to be gas attack from the air, in co-operation with submarines, on naval bases. The war lasted long enough to prove the value of the strategic offensive by air. Modern warfare on the grand scale exemplifies the doctrine of the 'Nation in Arms.' Not only armies in the field, but men, women and even children at home are concentrated on the

INCREASE IN SALES OF TRUCK TIRES VERY MARKED

J. B. MAGEE TELLS OF BIG DEMAND AS RESULT OF
NEW TRANSPORTATION

The immense strides that have been made in the transportation of freight between cities and towns by motor trucks in the last three years —particularly the two years just passed—is shown more conclusively than in any other way through the tremendous increase in the sales of truck pneumatic tires, in the opinion of J. B. Magee, manager of the southern California and Arizona branches of the United States Rubber company.

"The real impetus to this class of transportation was occasioned by the shortage of rail transportation in the last two years of the war and during 1919," he said. "Necessity turned shippers toward the truck, transportation companies were formed, and to speed up the movement of goods big pneumatics were used as tire equipment. It was found that the pneumatics increased the operating radius of the trucks from one-third to one-half.

"Great Increase in Sales
In the east, owing to very acute shortage of rail facilities brought about by the stress of war, the increase in this mode of transport was by far the greatest at the beginning, but since the movement has been almost correspondingly as great elsewhere, as shown by the increase in sales of United States giant pneu-matics. Applications granted by the State Railroad commission in this state record great progress in southern California in this regard.

"Governor Stephens in a recent

Nerve Centers Shattered War must, therefore, be carried into the enemy's country, his industries must be destroyed, his nerve centers shattered and the morale of the nation as a whole shaken. This can largely be effected by air attack on industrial and political centers.

At the outbreak of a future war we may expect to see, in addition to the specialized employment of aircraft in co-operation with naval and military forces, huge day and night bombers immediately sent out to penetrate over the enemy's country, and an independent concentration of fighting machines to produce, if possible, a shattering blow on the enemy and obtain from the outset supremacy in the air.

"In 1914 it was some twenty days between the declaration of war and the exchange of the first shots. In the next war between great powers, a mobile force of aircraft will be ready for action before the signature of the declaration is dry, and the air battle will be joined in as many hours."

Details Being Outlined For C. E. Convention

By GLEN and DALE

Glendale people who are not in touch with the workings of the Christian Endeavor state convention committee and who don't know how splendidly the work of this committee is coming along, are getting anxious and asking when their part in this great work will commence.
We're glad you want to get busy and it goes to show the splendid spirit that the entire city is manifesting in this work, but don't get too anxious, there is lots of detail work to be planned and just as soon as there is something definite for you to do, you'll be asked to do it.

A great many people all over the city are asking when we are going to start canvassing for entertainment. Well, at the rate that real estate is changing hands in this city, nothing in that line can be started until a week or ten days before the convention opens, and even then maybe some of you who are so anxious now will have sold your home and be living some place else when your delegates arrive. Perhaps you think your home is crowded, but just see if you can't take one at least.
You will enjoy your hospitality and you in turn will be inspired by their enthusiasm.

One of these days, about about the middle of June, a pretty young lady will stop at your door and ask how many delegates you can take. Put on your sweetest smile and tell her just as many as you can possibly take, and then get ready for them.
We'll be there, so don't get too anxious.

Declares Fare "Unreasonable"
That the fare from Tujunga to Glendale is unreasonable was the opinion expressed at a meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce during a debate on the service given by the stage company operating between the Monte Vista Valley and Los Angeles. Old machines, irregular schedules and favoritism in seating passengers were some of the charges made.

FAMOUS ARCTIC EXPLORER

Coming as one of the head-line attractions of the Chautauqua this year, is Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the distinguished Arctic explorer, the man widely known as the discoverer of the "blonde Eskimo."

In the discovery of the American continent, many hardships were encountered, and lives were endangered, but the obstacles that beset the path of Christopher Columbus were as nothing to the tests of endurance successfully passed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson in his voyage of discovery that has disclosed the existence of a continent in the formidable climate of the North Polar regions. In his lecture that will be delivered for the first time on the Chautauqua platform, he will describe the harrowing experiences of five years in a land of snow and ice. He will tell of vessels wrecked, and still adrift in a constantly moving, frozen sea. He will relate personal encounters with deadly elements of a "no man's land" far beyond the Arctic circle that science might be served, and the people of the earth know all about the planet they inhabit. The Chautauqua is in Glendale May 11-17.

tions; how his messages, 50 in number, had been listened to by more than 30,000 persons; how they had inspired the believers to greater zeal and the unbelievers to a need of Christ; how the utmost harmony has prevailed.

"There is only one point," said Mr. Edmonds, "in which I take issue with Mr. Brown, and that is a statement he made to the men Friday evening in which he said the people of Glendale do not owe him anything. I dispute that and say that we do. I am now going to give you all an opportunity of expressing your appreciation of Mr. Brown's efforts in our midst."

There was a hearty and immediate response that taxed the speed of the young lady operating the adding machine. Money was contributed as though it was a pleasure.

The evangelist then preached upon the topic as announced, "The Church and the Lodge," taking as his text Matthew 16-18, "And upon this rock I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The evangelist proceeded to show the great importance and vital necessity of the church to the human family—superior to any and all other institutions. However, no criticism was made of other organizations.

Four claims were made for the church: First, it is the oldest institution in the world; it is the largest; it is the most permanent; it is the purest and stands as the highest type of brotherhood.

For Men and Boys
The afternoon meeting was for men and boys and was largely attended. Mayor Wright of Whittier offered prayer. Subject, "Chickens Come Home to Roost." Scripture text, "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap."

The evangelist also proceeded to show that as in the natural world so in the spiritual world "as chickens come home to roost so will deeds and wrongs committed follow us through life to blight and wither and destroy, and that if we sow corn we shall reap corn; wheat and reap wheat, tares and reap tares—reap a multiplied harvest; life the seed time—both life and eternity the harvest. Every law that God has given is for our highest good and protection, and every violation is not only a sin against God but against ourselves, our children, our friends; for we do not live to ourselves; not Robinson Crusoes. We can no more blot out this law than the sun from the sky."

The speaker warned against perils that threaten the individual and the nation, as follows:
Sabbath desecration, unfit immigrations, profanity, gambling and adultery.

He strongly urged upon the men and boys the benefits of clean dollars, clean lips and clean lives, and invited all who wanted to reach a higher ideal to accept Christ as their helper; to take Him by the hand. Fully 200 responded and went into the inquiry room.

Service Sunday Night
The evening service crowded the building to its utmost limit; people stood in the aisles and exits. The Pasadena university male quartet were present and sang several selections to the delight of the great audience. The evangelist delivered a very impressive sermon on "Weighing the Nation."

Drawing his lesson from the dramatic story of Belshazzar the King as recorded in the fifth chapter of Daniel; how in the midst of a great feast of 1000 of his lords; in the midst of this drunken revelry the hand of God wrote on the wall, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting."

After graphically describing the scene and its surroundings, ending in the destruction of Babylon, the evangelist applied its lesson and truths to the present time and place, and asked the serious question, "how many are there in Glendale who are ready to be weighed in God's scales?"

"It is not usual," said Mr. Brown, "to particularize on these popular sins and it is not pleasant to me, but as a faithful messenger of Christ I deem it my duty; only those definitely in Christ will pass the test."

An earnest after-service followed in which many responded to the invitation.

Mr. Brown has founded a school in Arkansas to train the mind and hand of young people who have not the money themselves to get an education. He is fitting out an orchestra and band, and solicits musical instruments that owners have no use for.

Rev. O'Neill Answers Ministers' Resolution

Editor The Evening News:—May I take the liberty of requesting that this communication be published in your paper as a formal protest against the attitude of the Glendale Ministerial Association in seeking to usurp the administrative powers of our Glendale Union High school?

It is not my purpose to enter upon a discussion of the morals of dancing, which subject was seized upon by the Ministerial Association in your issue of Saturday night for the purpose of asserting its supposed right to dictate the policy of what this ministerial group was pleased to term "our Union High school."

Since when has the Union High school become an official part of the Ministerial Association? By what right under our American institutions which distinctly provide that "church and state shall be separate," does this group of ministers as an official body, undertake to govern the school affairs under the smug assumption that they are acting for all the people and for our "own Union High school?"

Glendale is a large and growing city. All creeds are represented here. The Ministerial Association represents only a portion of the people, who have a vital interest in "our Union High school." There are many Catholics here. There are Jews and there are Socialists here. There are also non-churchgoers. But they all have an "equal right under the law" in affairs of state, and they form a large group who find good ground for protest when such organizations as the Ministerial Association officially injects its influence into a school which knows no barriers of creed and which should be free from all denominational interest.

There is a growing tendency in certain classes of religion to link our churches and schools in spite of the fact that the fundamental law of the state and nation would keep them separate, and in few places has this un-American trend been more manifest than here in Glendale.

The Ministerial Association doubtless has a vital work to do, but it could best serve its purpose by confining itself to the religious field and leaving the administration of "our Union High school" to those who represent all the people.

I have no quarrel with those who are opposed to dancing, the practice of which at the Union High school inspired the Ministerial Association to record itself as the official sponsor of the school morals of Glendale. But I do protest against any religious body injecting itself into the business of dictating how our schools shall be conducted.

It is not a part of good religion to disobey laws of state and nation, and he who would strive to make religion dominate our public schools is un-American.

Easy Money; Hard Times Ahead
Joseph Decker swindled the Farmers and Merchants bank of Los Angeles out of $10,000. It took him less than a half hour's work.

"Easy money," he must have said to himself.
Then he was caught, tried and convicted and the judge said:
"Forty-four years."
"Hard times," Decker likely thought, for he is now a "three time" loser.

Students Dance on Tennis Courts
Driven from the high schools, the youth of Pasadena now are holding their dances on the tennis courts of Tournament park, a privately-owned park, despite the objections raised on the part of several religious organizations. The dances will be held each Friday night, beginning the first of June.

Vessels Collide; Women Faint
One of the first regular shipwrecks in years to happen off southern California was reported yesterday by the skippers of "Three Cs" and "Ace," two little gasoline launches plying between Long Beach and San Pedro. One woman fainted, but little damage was done in the collision which knocked the "Three Cs" pilot house galley west.

Mt. Everest Now Threatened
"Doug" Fairbanks has another big idea. This time it is to climb Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak which thus far has foiled mankind to find out what's on its top. At least he intends to make an Oriental tour with "our Mary," which will cover a period of six months.

The property is located 450 feet from the 1000-barrel producer on the Republic lease, according to Mr. Levenson.

TOPIC OF MINISTER IS 'FOUR ASPECTS OF JUDGMENT'

REV. C. M. CALDERWOOD TALKS TO BIG CONGREGATION AT SUNDAY SERVICE

Rev. C. M. Calderwood preached on "Four Aspects of Judgment" before a crowded congregation at the Congregational church yesterday morning. He took for his text 1 Cor. 4:3, 4: "But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged of you or of man's judgment; yea, I judge not mine own self; for I know nothing by myself; yet am I not hereby justified; but he that judgeth me is the Lord."

"The apostle tells us the estimate he puts on these four judgments," said the pastor. "For the first two, those of the world and his friend, he cares little, 'but with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged of you or of man's judgment.' And he cannot rely on his judgment; 'I judge not mine own self; for I know nothing by myself.' The judgment that is unerring and final is God's; 'but he that judgeth me is the Lord.'"

"The world judges us. It forms an estimate of our character and conduct. It is a mass opinion. A mass opinion may not be any more accurate than an opinion of an individual. There is a mob psychology that is treacherous. The world saves its conscience by judging us harshly. It is a comfort to the world to think that it is not so bad as we. The world reverses its own judgments from youth to age, from ignorance to wisdom and to suit its many moods. The judgments of history have been reversed. The poets of the Elizabethan period were misjudged by those of the age of Dryden. The reformers were hated, despised and burned, but are now revered. The world stoned its prophets, poisoned Socrates and crucified Jesus. 'Right forever on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne.'"

Judged by Our Friends

"We are judged by our friends. Our friends may know another side of us than the world knows. You have friends that are misjudged by the world. Our friends see more deeply into us than the world sees. Our friends may know us to be better or worse than the world knows us. But, with the apostle, it was a very small thing what the world or even friends thought."

"Neither could the apostle rely on his own judgment for he knew nothing against himself. We know ourselves much better than the world can know us. We know our own words, actions, thoughts and feelings. The world and friends cannot know our motives accurately. No one knows our hopes and aspiration. But, even so, we are not accurate in our judgments of ourselves. We are prejudiced in our own favor. We are both better and worse than others think us. We know secret habits and sinful inclinations that others do not know. This judgment is not accurate."

No Favorites with God

"God judges us. He knows us better. He created us. He has a telescopic and a microscopic knowledge. There are no favorites with God. We are judged on our merits. We do not always know what we have done. There is an unconsciousness of genius. Columbus, Franklin and the artists were greater than they realized. The hand that rounded Peter's dome builded better than he knew. Then, too, there is an unconsciousness of goodness. Everything done seems trivial and we may have done more good than we have thought. God knows the good and the bad that is within us. We do not know until the trial comes. 'My thoughts are not as your thoughts.' 'The first shall be last, and the last shall be first.' If we have the gift of prophecy, we say that it is great. If we have all faith, if we understand all mysteries, if we give our bodies to be burned, we say this is great; but God says that if we have not love it profiteth us nothing. We must give an account to God."

"When we ask ourselves the question, 'am I a Christian?' we want to know the world's judgment, our friends, our own; but most of all, we are more concerned about God's judgment. It is God's judgment that justifieth. If we ask the question, 'ought I to be a Christian?' what does the world say? What do I say? What would God say? What judgment will prevail in our lives?"

'Forbidden Fruit' Is Palace Grand Feature

Exerting a powerful appeal that is bound to touch the hearts of its audiences, "Forbidden Fruit" will be shown to excellent advantage at the Palace Grand theatre tonight. This photoplay is the latest creation of that master producer, Cecil B. De Mille, and the story rises to great dramatic heights in the depiction of the sufferings of a young wife, who, married to a shiftless scoundrel ultimately finds happiness in the love of a real man. The story is by Jeanie Macpherson who is responsible for many of the scenarios of past DeMille successes.

The various roles are interpreted by such highly competent players as Agnes Ayers, who will be remembered for her delightful portrayal in "Held by the Enemy;" Forrest Stanley and Clarence Burton, who make their debut in a DeMille picture in this photoplay; Theodore Kosloff and Theodore Roberts, whose work in previous DeMille productions are well known, and Kathryn Williams, a star in her own right. The cast throughout is excellent and the settings are all that could be demanded of a DeMille production.

Another Industry Is Located In Glendale

Glendale's growing number of industrial enterprises was further increased during the past week by the opening of the Glendale Ornamental Iron company at the rear of 514 East Broadway. The city's newest business is being conducted by R. C. Goudie & Son, who have had extensive experiences in this line of work for many years and who have been residents of this city more than a decade. Goudie Sr. has been in the business most of his life, the last ten years of which he has been engaged as superintendent of the largest ornamental iron works in Los Angeles. The firm will specialize in the manufacture of fireplace fixtures, including andirons, fire-dogs, grates, screens, etc., but will also do all kinds of wrought iron work, such as making iron gates and balcony rails, antique furniture, bronze statuary, hammered brass and copper, and countless other metal articles. A large sum of money has been spent for machinery, tools and equipment, and preparation has been made for a large amount of local work in the future.

Specimens of the work being put out by the new organization will be exhibited in the windows of one of Glendale's main stores in a few days.

The incubator was used by the ancient Egyptians.

Architect Lindley Is Busy Building Churches

Arthur G. Lindley, a Los Angeles architect, who resides at 123 South Belmont street, Glendale, has prepared preliminary plans for a two-story Sunday school building to be erected at Redlands for the First Methodist Episcopal church. Plans for a $25,000 edifice for the Methodists at La Mesa are now complete and the Taft congregation will have an addition built on their church.

Mr. Lindley has also prepared the preliminary plans for the new Chesterfield Square Methodist church at Fifty-fourth and Cimarron streets in Los Angeles. It will be two stories and basement, costing about $30,000. Remodeling of the Santa Monica Methodist church is now ready to proceed, according to Mr. Lindley.

The luckiest telephone number, in the estimation of the Japanese, is eight, which suggests prosperity.

RESEARCH HOSPITAL VISITED BY LARGE NUMBER LOCAL PEOPLE ON SUNDAY

their sick," he said. "Heathens send them to the wilderness to die. We are glad to have this place in which our sick and wounded may be taken."

"I take great pleasure this afternoon in responding for the womanhood of this community," said Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, after being introduced by Mr. Evans, "and I want to congratulate the people who have dreamed this wonderful institution. I have found it prepared for every emergency."

"It is very significant that upon this, Mothers' day, we should dedicate this hospital. For was not the first hospital mother's lap?"

In closing she congratulated the people on having this new institution for the "service of mankind."

For Chamber of Commerce

Jesse E. Smith, representing the Chamber of Commerce, responded for the public in a brief speech. He said that "law demands we have schools, it is born and bred into us to have our churches and the happenings of the day demand that we have hospitals, but their building is due to your courageous business men, the stockholders and directors of this institution."

Dr. John L. Avey, the X-ray specialist who is a member of the advisory board of the new institution, responded in behalf of the profession and told of his experiences in France with the American army.

"The telescope lengthens the sight," he said. "The microscope shortens it. The spectroscope is used for analyzing things and the stereoscope for gaining the third dimension, but when we speak of the X-ray and Roentgen ray, it can best be explained by an experience with an Irishman who came into a hospital in France for the removal of shrapnel."

Able to See Everything

"And shure, docthor, pwhat can you see wid this thing," he asked.

"Everything," I replied.

"Can you see pwhat's in me pocket?"

"Yes, I could see a silver piece, even if you had a string tied around your purse."

"And then you can look through me head, docthor?"

"Yes."

"Well, sor, you couldn't see what I'm thinking?"

"No, I had to admit, for if we could we likely couldn't get a man to be operated upon by this machine."

Discovers Rubber Drains

Explaining the work of the X-ray during the war, Dr. Avey said it had been used not only in surgery but to see if bales of cotton were all that they were supposed to be and in many other commercial ways. He told of discovering three rubber drain tubes in one doughboy's chest who was sent from the front to the field hospital, then the evacuation hospital and finally to the base hospital where Dr. Avey was operating. In a few minutes' time they were removed and in a month's time he was on his way home, wounded, but alive because the X-ray had discovered the mishaps while the patched up fellow was in transit.

In the dedicatory address, Dr. Clifford A. Cole expressed the wish that he had the opportunity for felicitations rather than to make an address.

"I suspect that we all are glad to have this institution," he said. It makes toward the ideal city. And we more and more are getting what we want in Glendale. Which reminds me of the story of a farmer, negro and Jew who went to heaven. At the pearly gates it was found that the name of the farmer was on the books and St. Peter said that the idea there was that everybody got what they wanted.

Get What They Wanted

"I'll take a 160 acres and a team of horses," said the farmer.

"There's your quarter section and the horses," said St. Peter. "And what is your wish?" he asked the negro.

"A million dollars," said the latter, and he got it.

"The wish of the Hebrew who came next was simple."

"Just give me $250 worth of goods and the address of that negro," he confided to St. Peter.

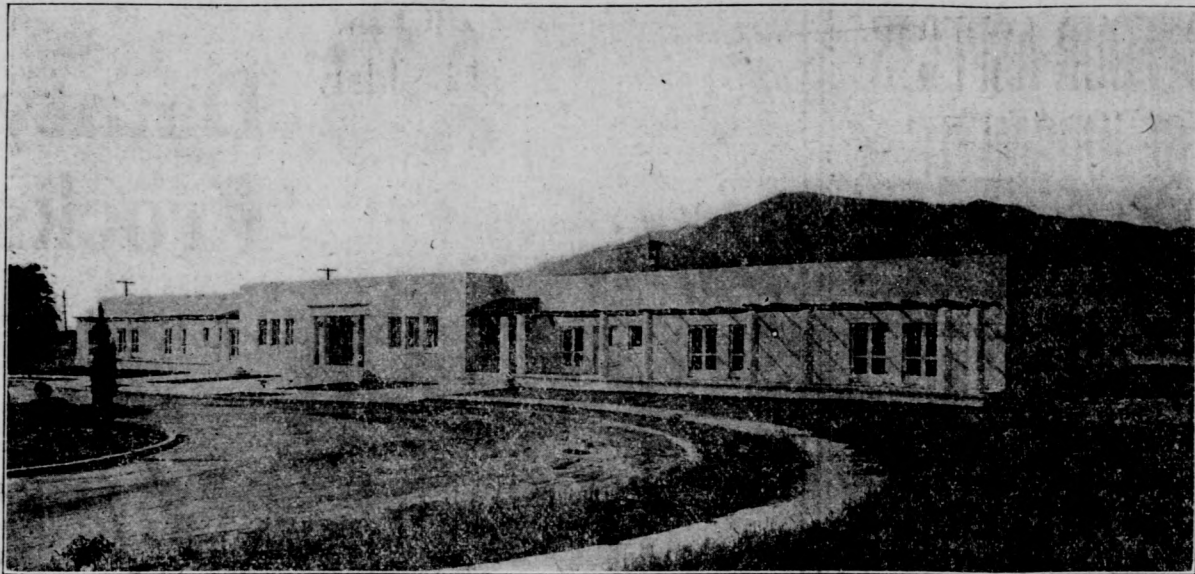

Continuing with his address, the Rev. Mr. Cole said that he believed "joy is running along the streets of this city today because we have this fine institution to which we may bring our sick and our halt."

"Wherever the church has not gone we do not find hospitals," he continued, "and that is why I believe it is fitting that we have these ministers on the program today, although it looks as though we have been surfeited by their talks."

"As the church represents Faith and the schools Hope, in the hospitals we find Love. Or in other words the great triad in civilization is Belief, Behavior and Benevolence. These are the fields in which Christianity works."

In closing the speaker made a few dedicatory remarks, after which Chairman Evans introduced those members of the directorate who were present.

Here Are Pictures Of Glendale Research Hospital And Comfortable Home Arranged For Use Of Nurses

The upper picture shows the Glendale Research Hospital which was dedicated at a public gathering held yesterday. The lower picture shows the nurses' dormitory, where every comfort has been provided for the staff of graduate nurses.

Every Care Is Taken To Provide Comforts

What constitutes a model room in the Glendale Research Hospital?

Those who inspected the new institution yesterday likely little realized the numerous details which lend comfort and convenience to the patient.

In the first place, there are glass plates on the swinging, noiseless doors which are large enough to roll the single bed in or out of the room. The same is true with the window doors which permit the patient to be rolled out on the verandah. The latter window-doors are equipped with upper and lower ventilator screens and white curtains.

Alongside the bed there is a metal side tray, electric wall light, nurse signal light, portable telephone attachment, two sizes of pillows in addition to plenty of blankets.

On the dresser bureau a vase of flowers gives a touch of spring to spotless white decorations. A rocking chair and "straight back" chair are also included in the equipment of the room, while a protected gas radiator provides the necessary heat. Rugs on the floor complete the list of furnishings.

As a part of the model room is a toilet, bath and lavatory with genuine china plumbing fixtures. Running hot and cold water is to be found in every room and an indirect lighting system is used throughout.

Signaling Device Is Used To Call Nurse

Insurance of service to patients is one of the keynotes in the new Glendale Research hospital and an enunciating electrically lighted signal is placed in every room.

When turned on a red light shows in the patient's room, another over the door of the room, another at the head of the corridor, another in the diet kitchen and the number of the room flashes in the main corridor and superintendent's office.

These lights can be turned off only in the patient's room which means that the nurse must answer promptly or quickly be called to account for the inattention.

Did You Visit Cellar At Research Hospital?

How many of those attending the dedication of the Glendale Research hospital learned what was in the basement?

There is a basement, but few visited it. It houses a big 250-gallon circulating hot water tank and there also is plenty of room for storing groceries and other supplies.

Reception Rooms Are Neat, Business-Like

It is said that the first impressions are lasting ones. With this in view, when visitors enter the Glendale Research hospital they are impressed with the neat, comfortable and business-like reception room, one each side of which there are consultation rooms and to the right the office with its telephone exchange and desks for Miss Grace McKinley, superintendent nurse, and her office assistant, Mrs. Ida McMasters.

Hist! There's Still At Hospital Ready For Use Of Doctor

One little detail of the new Glendale Research Hospital caused a world of "grief."

A little gas-heated water still was required for the laboratory. One was ordered, but—

The government butted in and said "You can't have it."

Evidently Uncle Sam was afraid that the Glendale Boozie Hoisters' association might steal it for use other than what it was intended.

At length Dr. J. A. McNaughton, a member of the board of directors, literally "signed his life away" in order to obtain the necessary equipment.

And now the still reposes on a shelf ready for use by Dr. A. G. Lucecock, laboratorian.

Hospital Ready For Visitations Of Stork

In the east wing of the Glendale Research hospital is to be found the "stork" room, completely equipped and separate from the operating room. There is a three-bed obstetrical ward, well furnished in deep gray with light gray walls and ceiling. The nursery with its eight tiny beds niftily trimmed and the room done in robin's egg blue. The latter probably attracted more attention yesterday than any other part of the hospital.

Special Rooms Fitted Up For Staff Members

Among the many special rooms for the convenience of the hospital staff are the diet kitchens and utility rooms, one of each being located on each wing. In the latter there are water and instrument sterilizers, also gas furnaces for the incineration of all soiled papers and linens. The diet kitchens are fully equipped with heaters, refrigerators, etc. There are four general bathrooms in addition to the many private baths throughout the building.

James Richardson To Manage Palace Grand

With Turner & Dahnken's lease of the Palace Grand, theatre becoming effective here yesterday, James Richardson, who for years has been associated with that theatre as house manager, and ticket man, becomes manager, it was announced by Robert Jensen yesterday. The latter still will look after the interests of the house here, but devote most of his time to other work. Henry Jensen has not sold the Palace Grand, it is to be understood. He has leased the house and its film franchises for a period of ten years.

Undoubtedly Mr. Richardson's pleasing personality and strict attention to business which he has shown in the years he has worked for the theatre under Turner & Dahnken's direction.

Automobiles are said to be found on nearly every farm in the Argentine.

Kitchen At Hospital Is Modernly Equipped

To the rear of the main building at the Glendale Research Hospital will be found the kitchen combined with a nurses' dining room, vegetable room and laundry.

The kitchen is equipped with an extra large Garland range, a Crescent dishwashing machine, standard coffee urn, serving table, built-in cupboards, sink and other fixtures. The nurses' dining room is done in gray, the chairs and table being in darker gray. Another room in which the other employees will eat also adjoins the kitchen.

A built-in refrigerator is a feature of the building which merits special attention as it is equipped to cool water for the hospital proper. Ice is delivered from the outside and there is plenty of cupboard space to keep practically all of the food cool and fresh.

The vegetable preparing room has special drains and tables for the proper handling of potatoes and the like and throughout there is water to be had in great abundance to keep everything clean.

In the laundry a large electrically driven Thor washing machine and mangle iron are ready for use while two barrels of soap are already in stock. Drying racks and tables complete the equipment.

X-Ray And Chemical Laboratories Perfect

Two features of the new Glendale Research hospital which bear out the name of that institution are the x-ray and chemical laboratories. The former will be in charge of Dr. John L. Avey, who specialized in x-ray and Roentgen ray work with the American expeditionary forces in France.

In the two rooms set aside for this work, one is to be used as a dressing or waiting room while the other has the numerous appliances including the latest model Victor x-ray unit, an improved Wapler table which permits the patient to be photographed in any position, a stereoscopic view box and a fluoroscope.

In the basement below there is a dark room where the pictures can be developed while the patient waits. The windows of the x-ray department are equipped with doors for darkening the room and the walls are tinted a deep blue.

Dr. A. G. Lucecock will be in charge of the chemical laboratory, which also occupies two rooms and is equipped for complete blood, stomach and basilmolism tests, also for frozen pathological sectioning.

In fact, these two laboratories are the last word in the latest scientific perfection, and one of the largest and best centrifuges found any place in the United States has been installed for blood tests.

A charter was recently filed by a big motor company with a capital of $100,000,000,000, at the State Department in Delaware. The company is authorized to manufacture and dispose of automobiles of all kinds.

Authorized by the legislature of New Jersey, additional revenue of $1,200,000 a year will be brought about by the new increases in motor vehicle fees.

GLENDALE CITIZENS SERVE ON BOARD OF DIRECTORS

LOCAL MEN TAKE ACTIVE PART IN HOSPITAL; DEPARTMENT HEADS EXPERIENCED

Honor for them to whom credit is due must be given to the personnel of the hospital, both in its directorate and staff. Spencer Robinson is president; Dr. J. L. McNaughton, superintendent; A. L. Baird, secretary and treasurer; Roy L. Kent and Herman Nelson members of its board.

The advisory board includes Dr. A. E. W. Yale of Burbank, Dr. John L. Avey of Los Angeles, Dr. A. W. Teel of Los Angeles and Glendale, Dr. T. C. Young of Glendale and Dr. Cox of Long Beach.

Department Heads

Dr. John L. Avey is the x-ray expert; Dr. A. G. Lucecock, laboratorian; Miss Grace E. McKinley, head nurse in charge of hospital, and Mrs. Ida McMasters in charge of the office.

The nurses include Mrs. Grace S. Hornung who will have charge of surgical cases and Miss Marie Donnelly, who will have charge of the obstetrical cases; Miss Maude McLennan, Miss Pitts and Mrs. E. Edebroock are the other nurses. Mrs. C. W. King will be the housekeeper and Charles Williams will act as utility man.

Spencer Robinson Is Deeply Interested In Culture-Hair Culture

In introducing the board of directors of the Glendale Research Hospital at the dedicatory exercises yesterday, Attorney W. E. Evans, who presided, stated that the reason Spencer Robinson, president of the board, had become interested in the new institution, was because of the fact he understood it was to have a department devoted to the "reformation of the dome."

Director Robinson smiled at Chairman Evans' statement, rubbed one hand over his bald head and commented softly:

"That's a hair-raising declaration."

Thorough Equipment In Operating Rooms

Operating rooms which are the latest word in modern equipment feature the new Glendale Research hospital. In the suite set aside for surgical cases, there is a doctor's dressing room and locker rooms and a wash room in which the water is turned on and off by the knee so that the hand touches nothing contaminating. Then the operating surgeon proceeds to the instrument room where a separate built in case is set aside for each physician.

An inside room is used for eye, ear and throat operations. In the principal operating room, the latest Mayo patent table which can be turned at any angle is the principal part of the complete equipment. The floors are waterproof and there are several electric plugs for heaters and appliances. An emergency light is provided by a storage battery in order that operations may continue without interruption, even should the power fail.

In an adjoining room is the very latest type of American sterilizing equipment heated by gas and opened by compressed air controlled by foot levers. Indeed it is most interesting machinery and created considerable comment yesterday.

Mrs. Virginia Freeman Pleases With Singing

Saturday night's performance at the Glendale Theatre terminated the limited engagement of Mrs. Virginia Freeman, former opera and oratorio singer of New York, who has decided to make her home in Glendale. Music lovers of the community have expressed the hope to have another opportunity of hearing this artist.

Mrs. Freeman was accompanied by Mrs. Roberta T. Young, also formerly of New York City.

Propose Tribute To Florence Nightingale

Next Thursday will be "hospital day" throughout the world, it was announced at the opening of the new Glendale Research Hospital yesterday. It is to commemorate the life and work of Florence Nightingale of Crimean war fame who initiated the Red Cross. She was born on May 12. Visitors will be welcomed to all hospitals on that date. President Harding has indorsed "hospital day."

According to estimates there is said to be 60 billion barrels of crude oil still in the fields of the earth, or a sufficient supply to last the next 168 years.

Financial Report on Near East Is Given

WASHINGTON—Accounting for the disbursement of $13,129,117 in 1920 and a total of $60,000,000 to date, including flour, clothing and medical supplies, the annual report of the Near East Relief, incorporated by Congress August 6, 1919, was filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the relief organization. The report includes an auditors' statement by a firm of chartered accountants, whose traveling auditors in the field check on all expenditures by the Near East Relief. A balance on hand of $367,219 is reported.

In regard to the business methods and efficiency of the organization, Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States High Commissioner to Turkey, is quoted:

"I have been very closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief committee for about twenty-two months," Admiral Bristol reports. "On the whole, the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come in contact."

As to the accomplishments of the organization, Mr. Vickrey's report shows 711 American and Canadian relief workers, including physicians, surgeons, nurses, mechanics, industrial experts, engineers, agriculturists, teachers, administrators, orphanage experts, supply, transportation and general relief workers employed on little more than a volunteer basis, while 37,291 native workers have been used by the Near East Relief organization. According to the report, sixty-three hospitals, with 6522 beds, 128 clinics, eleven rescue homes, 299 orphanages, accommodating 54,600 children in orphanages and 56,039 children outside orphanages, have been maintained by the Near East Relief.

'Mothers' Day' Topic Of Talk By Rev. O'Neill

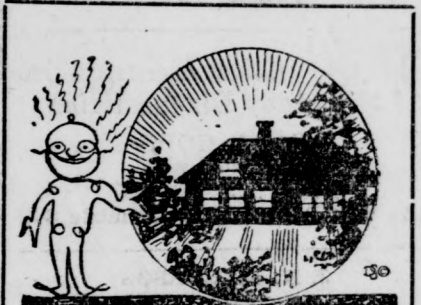

"Mothers' Day" furnished the theme for the sermon by the Rev. Father James S. O'Neill at the Holy Family Catholic church here yesterday. During the discourse he pointed out that the greatest mother of all in the history of the world was the mother of Jesus. He also praised the women of the parish for their efforts in making the May Festival at La Ramada the great financial success which it was.

Denies Rabies Cases Are Found In City

Dr. J. E. Eckles, city health officer, requests The Evening News to publish the following statement addressed to the people of the city:

To the People of Glendale and Vicinity:—Recently a Los Angeles newspaper printed an article stating that several dogs afflicted with rabies were found in Glendale. This was immediately investigated by our department with the result that said statement was found to be false and without any foundation whatever. These investigations were made at the place where these afflicted dogs were taken and it was found that instead of a number of cases of rabies being found that only two cases were definitely shown to be suffering from hydrophobia, and that none of these dogs were from Glendale, but were from the part of Los Angeles known as Glassell park.

We are unable to find any trace of rabies originating in the city of Glendale, with the exception of one case, and that, after careful examination had been made of the dog in the laboratory of the state, was pronounced doubtful. The dog, however, was immediately killed and this case is being watched so that should any developments arise some immediate action will be taken to safeguard the people of Glendale by whatever action may be necessary to prevent the spread of the malady.

As an added attraction "Golden the Great," recognized wizard of mental telepathy and psychic powers will be present for a practical application of his power with members of the audience.

The following is a translation of police instructions issued to motorists in Japan. "When a passenger of foot hove in sight, tootle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still obstacles your passage, tootle him with vigor, and express by word of mouth the warning 'Hi, Hi!' Do not explode the exhaust box at a wandering horse. Go soothingly by, or stop by the roadside till he pass away."

ELKS TAKE CONTEST BY 5 TO 4 FROM NEW METHODS

REAL BALL GAME IS STAGED ON LOCAL GROUNDS TO DELIGHT 600 FANS

Before the largest and most enthusiastic crowd of the season the Elks' baseball team yesterday afternoon demonstrated how the national pastime should be played by defeating the rejuvenated New Methods squad to the tune of 5 to 4. The team put on the field by the N. M.s yesterday had been greatly strengthened since their last appearance in Glendale, when they were overwhelmed by a 13 to 3 score. This improvement made the two teams about equal, the result being that the fans were treated to the fastest and best played contest ever staged on the local diamond. Fully 600 excited fans witnessed the exhibition.

To go back to the first part of the game, the New Method Blues started out as though they meant business when Donaly, their second man up, cracked a Texas leaguer to short right and scampered home a moment later on a long double to deep left by Geyer. The best Glendale could do in the opening round was to get a man to second base.

Land Them in Second
Things were different for the locals in the second, however, when a brace of tallies were chalked up on three successive singles by R. Doll, McGillis and Matro. The visitors made two hits in this stanza, but they netted nothing but experience from the blows.

At the beginning of the third inning Holbrow, who had allowed four hits in two rounds, was given the sponge, his place on the mound being taken by the old reliable Bill Bolin.

Bill promptly halted the onslaught by fanning two of the next three batters. In the seven innings pitched Bolin was nicked for five safeties, keeping them scattered in every stanza but the sixth, when the N. M.s rang the bell three times on as many bingles.

The remainder of Glendale's runs came in the fourth on a fusillade of base hits. Matro, the catcher borrowed from Santa Rita for the game, started the rally with his second hit of the day between third and short. After being sacrificed to second by Bolin he was advanced to third on Sam Rich's clout to center. Rich stole second and both runners came home on "Chuck" Flanders' bingle over the shortstop's head. Then "Chuck" scored what proved to be the winning run on Malone's clean single.

Stage Batting Rally
The visitors almost caused several of the local rooters to suffer from heart failure in the sixth when they staged a batting rally that came within one run of tying the score. Stoy's, their second man up, picked out one of Bolin's slants for a two-bagger to right center. Waglon, the next batter, was walked. Stoy's scored and Waglon took third on E. Rodgers' slam to left field. Rodgers stole second and completed the circuit on Clark's liner through short. This ended the scoring for the day.

There was some controversy prior to the game as to who would be Glendale's opponents. The William Russell All Stars were originally scheduled to play here, but when it was found that the movie stars could not play arrangements were immediately made to bring the New Method players out from Los Angeles. But at the last moment the members of the Santa Rita team arrived on the scene and declared that they had been listed to play Glendale. The mistake seems to have been made by the booking agent in Los Angeles, although it may mean that the local ball tossers have established such a reputation that said b. a. deems it necessary to oppose them with two teams. A. F. PRIEST DRAWS PLANS FOR HOME, BUSINESS BLOCK

MONARCH AUTO SUPPLY BUILDS ELABORATE STRUCTURE;
HOUSE FOR C. D. THOM

Plans for two big improvements to be made in Glendale are revealed by Architect Alfred F. Priest of 1422 North Central avenue through the columns of the current issue of the Southwest Builder and Contractor. A group of brick and frame buildings are being prepared for the Monarch Auto Supply company to be located at the southeast corner of Brand boulevard and Harvard street which will include a machine shop, oil filling station, storage buildings and main storeroom, 53 by 115 feet in dimension. Concrete will be used for the foundation, brick for the walls and plastered with cement except for the pressed brick facing.

Plans Ten-Room House
Cameron D. Thom is having Mr. Priest prepare plans for a two-story, ten-room house which will be erected at the corner of California and Louise streets. Specifications call for a concrete foundation, hollow tile exterior walls, clay tile and composition roof, stucco exterior, pine and hardwood trim, hardwood floors, tiled bathrooms, gas heating system, wiring, garage. The Rommel Construction of 131 South Brand boulevard will erect the house, the estimated cost being $20,000.

Does Insurance Pay? These People Say So

It was a bad week for the Union Insurance company of Lincoln, Neb., as far as local losses, according to C. L. Booth, agent, and A. L. Baird, manager of the R. L. Kent company real estate and insurance department, who write that line.

The latter states that M. P. Harrison, vice president of the First National Bank, while driving down town the other morning was in a collision with another car. By 3 o'clock that afternoon he had his car repaired, the bills paid by the Union. It was his first experience in a motor accident.

H. P. Courtney of the Southern California Gas company here collected insurance for a broken switch lock as the result of thieves' efforts to steal his car in Los Angeles one night last week. Jack Gardner was covered in his automobile's setto with a Pacific Electric train in front of a local theatre and George V. Black, South Glendale druggist, collected for damages done his car by a wild little sedan.

Mrs. J. W. Jessup, while driving in the traffic in Los Angeles, also was covered in a minor accident, which would prove it pays to insure.

The Chamber of Commerce of Washington, D. C., is looking for a site in which the "Tin Can" Tourists' Association of the United States can camp while stopping at the capital. At present the automobile traveler has no place to camp in Washington.

VAN NUYS LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS TO BE INSTALLED

J. W. DUTTON OF GLENDALE TO HEAD DRILL TEAM;
NOTES ABOUT VALLEY

With more than a score of charter members a Van Nuys lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be installed by P. A. Cassidy, district deputy grand patriarch. J. W. Dutton of the Glendale offices of the Southern California Gas company, chief patriarch of the Orange Grove Encampment, No. 31, Los Angeles, will take his drill team to Van Nuys to initiate the fifty candidates for membership in the infant lodge.

Burbank Building $271,003
April building permits in Burbank totaled $271,003, bringing the figure for the year to date to $367,853. There were fifty-six permits issued during the month, including several factory buildings.

Plan for Better Market
Alfalfa growers of the San Fernando valley will meet at the Van Nuys high school, Thursday night, May 12, at 7:30 o'clock. An association is planned to better marketing conditions so that the price shall not be below the present cost of production.

To Take Charge of Hotel
Mrs. Celia Flynn and her sons, Harry and Mervin, will take charge of the Porter hotel at San Fernando on August 1, the former recently having purchased the block in which it is located. The hotel contains sixty-six rooms, large lobby, patio and dining room, banking quarters and ten store rooms.

"Little Princess" at Burbank
"The Little Princess," of which Cecilia Mae Fischer of Burbank was the star, after playing here Friday night was taken to Burbank Saturday night for the benefit of the Women's Clubhouse fund. The Pearl Keller pupils again distinguished themselves for their ability to sing, dance and act.

Only Pastor Is Present
When his auto balked on the way to Roscoe a week ago Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Horton who holds a pastorate there was detained from attending services. His parishioners were peeved so when Wednesday night came, there was none but the pastor present at prayer meeting.

Sunday School Convention
The annual convention of the San Fernando Valley Sunday School association will be held in Owensmouth on Saturday, May 14. There will be a track meet for the boys in the morning, picnic dinners, department meetings in the afternoon and a big rally at the Community church in the evening. Coffee and lemonade will be furnished free.

Not Allowed to Take Part
Here's real tribulation for the being the "tag end" of a big city. The Roscoe grammar school boys went to Los Angeles as entrants in the city track meet, but someone, somewhere had blundered and they were not allowed to participate. For what official in Los Angeles knew that Roscoe was part of the city? Forest Meyers was captain of the team, and Roy Meyers, Amiel Nutsch, Charles Forchliesser, Paul Lyons and George Rivera members of the squad.

Buys Twenty-acre Tract
W. H. Bennett, late of Waterville, Long Island, N. Y., and a landscape gardener of note, has purchased a twenty-acre tract in the vicinity of Owensmouth, which he has named Golden Dell. He will establish an ornamental nursery. Ten acres will be irrigated from overhead.

Larger Quarters Sought
Larger quarters for the Burbank postoffice are now being sought by the government. Not less than 1740 square feet of floor space and a location within eighty rods of the railroad station are two principal requirements.

Los Angeles County's Cows Lead In Tests

The report of the western office of the dairy division of United States Department of Agriculture of the cow testing work throughout the western part of the United States during month of March, shows Los Angeles Co. cows again well in the lead in all classes. The most notable class in which Los Angeles county leads is in the average production for the month of all cows in the association. There were 3285 cows tested in the Los Angeles county association during March from which was obtained an average production of 39.2 pounds of butter fat per cow. The nearest competitor in this average was one branch of the Ferndale association in Humboldt county with only 797 cows under test during the month with an average production of 39.1 pounds of fat, slightly lower production but with a much smaller number of cows.

may also be noted that the Ferndale association has been operating for 13 years while the Los Angeles association has been operating less than three years. There are no other associations testing any number of cows comparable with the number tested in Los Angeles county that in any way average the production made by the cows in the Los Angeles association.

A Los Angeles county herd was also first in herd average, the herd of Fred Hartsook at Lankershim returning an average of 60.3 pounds of butter fat per cow for his entire herd of forty-one cows. The nearest competitor was in the Ferndale association with an average of over five pounds less than that obtained by Mr. Hartsook, and with a smaller number of cows. Another notable record made by Los Angeles county cows was in the class for the first five cows in each association. In this class Los Angeles county led with an average of 112 pounds of butterfat per cow for the best five cows. The nearest competitor was the Ferndale association in which the best five cows produced an average of 92.7 pounds of butterfat, almost twenty pounds of butterfat per cow less than the Los Angeles county cows produced.

With the interest that is being shown in cow testing work by Los Angeles county dairymen and the very excellent work done by Los Angeles county dairymen in weeding out their poor cows and in using improved feeding methods, it is safe to predict that the Los Angeles county association will not only continue to lead other associations in records obtained but will also increase in size due to the enlarged interest among dairymen of the county.

Detroit is the center of the automobile industry, and Michigan today produces 80 per cent of the automobiles of the country, and 70 per cent of the automobiles of the world.

Minnesota has the lowest rate ($2) of all the states for license fee of a five-ton motor truck. Georgia and Maryland have the highest rating, $150.

The state of Virginia has $4,081.101.57 available for the new road construction work in 1921.
